

Poor Man's Jug Band is...

Simme Bobrosky yadi@seanet.com vocals, acoustic guitar, ukulele, kazoo and more
"May the farce be with you."

Gary Sparrow 360.303.8381
backup vocals, Leticia (green w/shamrock) 'gut-bucket' bass
"I got the 20 acres and I got the mule. Now what?"

George B. Jay
backup vocals, Wright and Disston musical saw
"There's room in the sandbox for all of us. Peace."

Ranger Kidwell-Ross ranger@rangerville.com backup vocals, suitcase, paper bag, frattoir tie, Crocagator Zydaphone, etc.
"I like it where I am. Besides, city girls aren't good for much except to talk to."

For booking inquiries, or for more band information that's apt to surprise your sensibilities, use one of the ways shown above to reach us. By the way, since all of us love parties, you should pretty much expect one to occur whenever we perform. Our theory is, "If playing music isn't great fun then we must be doing something wrong." We're convinced audiences prefer having fun, too.

Our music is rooted in Americana, but spans the world and a number of generations, and includes both classics and originals. Tunes you may hear include:

Ain't She Sweet	Ukuele Lady	Coney Island Washboard
Salty Dog	Buffalo Gals	Yonder Come the Blues
Little Lisa Jane	Jambalaya	Chickens You Can Roost
I'm a Woman	Hesitation Blues	Hot Corn/Cold Corn

...and a nice little ditty based on the final movement of Musgorsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition."

Everywhere we go folks ask us the same thing, "Where's yer jug?"

And, we tell 'em all the same:

"This is the Poor Man's Jug Band; we cain't ford no jug."